DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

Claims 7 and 8 are objected to because of the following informalities: Claim 7 has two claim sections each ending in a period. It appears claim 7 should have been separated into two claims. Claim 8 depends from itself. Appropriate correction is required.

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970);and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 1-6 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1 and 5-7 of U.S. Patent No. 6,626,405 to Keast et al (applicant) in view of Kristek (US patent no. 3,021,638). Keast disclosed all the claimed features of applicant's invention except for providing a shim with having a varying thickness. Kristek teaches providing a floor protector assembly with a shim (10) of varying thickness for compensating the leg which may be unstable with respect to the floor. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to have provided the floor protector of Keast with a shim of varying thickness as taught by Kristek for compensating unevenness of the floor.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 7 and 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. Regarding claim 7, line 5, the phrase "or the like" renders the claim(s) indefinite because the claim(s) include(s) elements not actually disclosed (those encompassed by "or the like"), thereby rendering the scope of the claim(s) unascertainable. See MPEP § 2173.05(d). Regarding claim 8, it is not clear what is meant by outer periphery of shim conforming to outer periphery of the main body portion. Such recitation appears indefinite.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

⁽b) the invention was patented or d scribed in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than on y ar prior to the date of application for patent in th United States.

Art Unit: 3632

Claims 7 and 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Hachmann (US patent no. 1,208,546). Hachmann discloses a floor protector assembly comprising a main body (10) having securing means (13), a removable floor protector retainer (16) attached to the main body having an upper wall (upper peripheral edge of 16), and an opening (20) through a bottom wall (15), a floor protector (19) mounted in the opening and retained therein, the floor protector having a portion (19) extending downwardly from and outwardly from the retainer beyond the bottom wall for engagement with the floor; wherein the cushioning material is felt (page 1, line 75); wherein at least one shim (14) mounted on the main body portion remote from the floor protector having a varying thickness therecross (note the tapered shaft of screw 14) wherein the outer periphery of the shim conforms to the outer periphery of the main body portion (both are curved or circular cross-sectioned).

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The remaining cited art demonstrated floor protectors of similar type.
